Recommendation Letter for Dominic P. Fischer

Dear Madam or Sir

I have known Dominic Fischer since 2021 when he started his Bachelor studies with us. Dominic has successfully taken a number of courses (Introduction to Computational Linguistics, and Programming Techniques) with me, and I remember well that he achieved very high grades. A year later I was happy to hire Dominic as teaching assistant / tutor for the Introduction to Computational Linguistics. He was much appreciated by the students and by his fellow students alike.

Our paths crossed again during an excursion to Milano in the fall 2023 where he presented our research on language processing for a large historical letter corpus. Soon after I was able to hire him as research assistant to work on LLM-based machine translation for historical texts. Since then we published four papers together, where Dominic did most of the experiments and contributed increasing parts of the paper writing. On five occasions he presented our findings:

1. at the Digital Humanities conference DHd in Passau (February 2024),
2. at KONVENS in Vienna (September 2024),
3. at a workshop on AI for Digital Editions in Zurich (March 2025),
4. at the SwissText conference in Winterthur (May 2025), and
5. at the MT Summit in Geneva (June 2025).

His presentations are well-prepared and based on deep insights into the subject matter. His judgement is thought-through and his presentation skills are persuasive. This became also evident during the international study week which took us to Estonia (Tallinn and Tartu) in May 2025. There, Dominic was the co-presenter of research on NLP for Swiss German.

Dominic Fischer is a strong programmer and has extraordinary language skills. He is well-organized and highly self-motivated. He works efficiently and thoroughly. He is a team worker with great social skills. He accepts responsibilities and is good at organizing events which he has demonstrated as president of our CL student association. It has been a great pleasure to collaborate with Dominic.

I recommend Dominic Fischer whole-heartedly for NLP positions in academia or industry. Dominic is a very promising master student and junior researcher who has already demonstrated his great potential.

If you need more information, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,
